

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Garrett Metal Detectors Facility to be Seen on The Fox Business Network®

Garland, Texas (October 26, 2012) — Garrett Metal Detectors, a worldwide leading manufacturer of security, hobby and countermeasure metal detection products, is proud to announce the company will be presented in an upcoming production of Manufacturing Marvels®. The Garrett production will air on The Fox Business Network® during The Willis Report at approximately 8:30-8:45 p.m. on Monday, November 12 (CST).

Produced by award winning producers Bob and Jerry May and narrated by nationally acclaimed voice talent John Criswell, the 2-minute Manufacturing Marvel® production spotlights American manufacturers in a multitude of industries.

Marvel Production Group, LLC visited the Garrett manufacturing facility on October 19, where they documented the company's production and manufacturing methods. While on-site, MPG captured the acclaimed product line of detectors and spent time with Charles and Eleanor Garrett and their son Vaughan Garrett.

"We are pleased that Garrett was selected to be featured in a Manufacturing Marvels® production," said Vaughan Garrett, Vice President of Marketing for Garrett. "Our ISO-9001 certified Quality Management System means that each product we make is designed, assembled, tested for quality control and shipped from our building under the highest quality of standards."

After its air date, the video will be featured on Garrett's YouTube channel (www.youtube.com/garrettdetectors), where a variety of other instructional and treasure hunting adventure videos are also accessible.

Garrett Metal Detectors, founded in 1964 and headquartered in Garland, TX, has proudly manufactured its security, hobby and countermeasure products for nearly five decades in the United States. For a complete listing of Garrett Metal Detectors' products and services, visit www.garrett.com.
